Rules (gotta have 'em)

New vendors send photos of your work and booth along with your bio by email.

All products sold must be handmade by the vendor. No exceptions.

Vendors will staff their booths for the duration of each event.

Vendors will be responsible for making sure their area and the entire venue be kept clean. If you see something that needs attention take care of it yourself.

You must sell your own product(s) no representatives.

Entry fees pay for all expenses therefore, no refunds.

When sharing booths each vendor shall have a separate application and resale permit.

Vendor will indicate on the application all items to be sold. Include an extra sheet of paper if necessary.

If using tables they must be covered completely to the ground. Bring weights and tarps. We are in the mountains, bad weather happens.

No bringing in vehicles or packing up early. No bringing in vehicles or packing up early. I know I typed it twice...I just felt like I had to.

All vendors shall check in before setting up.

No animals allowed, except for one service animal, and you must provide the proper paperwork accreting the animal is indeed a service animal. No exceptions.

No playing loud music during event hours unless that is your product. Keep music levels low.

Non-profit booths shall be manned for the duration of the event and will be set up as a standalone booth.

Each exhibitor will be responsible for obtaining a resale permit FOR EACH EVENT THEY ATTEND. This is especially important for food vendors. The address for each event will be listed on the application for that particular event. There is no charge for this.

This is a group effort. Every member must contribute or participate in advertising either by hanging flyers in local business windows or office buildings, social media, direct mail, recruiting new members or whatever needs arise. This only works if we all work together. Remember you are getting these events at a considerable discount. Participation is why!

By signing my name hereto, I agree to defend, indemnify and hold harmless the Professional Artisans Co-op, it's officers, agents, employees and volunteers and the facility owners or managers against any and all such claims, demands, causes of action, suits and expenses, arising out of or resulting from my use of this facility.
